

FROM WASHINGTON.

[Special Correspondence of the ALEX. GAZETTE.]
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 7, 1890.

The Secretary of War, in response to a resolution of enquiry passed by the Senate some time ago, in reference to a separation of the railroad and wagon bridges on the Washington side of the Long Bridge, sent a report and plans to the Senate to day recommending the removal of the present Long Bridge, and in its stead the construction of a railroad bridge on brick arches to commence at the intersection of Maryland Avenue and 13th street, and end at the north side of the Virginia channel of the Potomac, where it will connect with a bridge to be built on the stone pier of the present bridge there, but to be higher than the present bridge, and that a wagon bridge across the river commence at 14th street and be built west of the railroad bridge.

Secretary Noble's breakfast yesterday morning is the subject of general comment here to-day, especially the floral emblems, and particularly the vine, which was said to "represent God's wisdom." The affair is represented to have been gorgeous. It was observed that among all the various and unique legends none had any reference to the fact that the day was the Sabbath and should be kept holy.

The republicans in the House played a sharp trick on their democratic colleagues to-day. They gave out and had published the statement that to day would be District of Columbia day, that is, devoted to the consideration of bills relating to the District of Columbia, thereby inducing many democratic members to stay away, as they are not at all interested in such matters, but at the same time telegraphing and telephoning to all the republican members to be on hand as the day would not be District day, but devoted to the consideration of bills under the suspension rule, and that under that rule they would take up and force through a service pension bill.

Representative Bowden of the Norfolk, Virginia, district, says the bill which passed the House last Saturday for a negro hotel at Old Point Comfort, provides that the building will be located some distance from Fort Monroe, on the creek separating the military reservation from Hampton, but will front on Hampton Road; that the parties at the head of the project will build the hotel themselves, and not sell that privilege to others, and that there are plenty of negroes who can afford and who will pay three or four dollars a day, the rates that will be charged there.

It was reported at the House this morning that Mr. Speaker Reed intended to recognize Mr. Tucker to-day and allow him to move to take up the bill to repeal the tobacco tax, but Mr. Reed being asked about it replied that such an idea had never entered his mind. He had, he said, received a letter asking him to recognize Mr. Tucker for the object referred to, but that he had taken no notice of it and did not intend to.

The House committee on pensions to day reported a pension of $50 a month to Mrs. Della T. S. Parnell, daughter of Admiral Charles Stewart and mother of Charles Stewart Parnell.

Again to-day were there people at the U. S. Supreme Court room to hear a decision in the Virginia coupon cases now before that court, and again were they disappointed, as no such decision was rendered. Among the other strangers in the court room was Col. N. M. Taylor of Tennessee, who is here to represent his State in the suit now before the court to determine the boundary line between Tennessee and Virginia, which suit involves the question of the State jurisdiction to which the town of Bristol is subject.

A republican member of the House Ways and Means Committee said this morning a proposition had been made in that committee for free trade with Mexico and Central and South America, but that it had never been considered, for the reason that the committee thought such a matter was the especial province of the treaty making power. He also said he believed Mr. Blaine was now engaged in negotiating such a treaty. He failed, however, to allude to the possibility of the refusal of the governments of the countries to which he referred to go to the trouble and expense of negotiating treaties with this country in view of the shabby way Spain and Mexico were treated by the refusal of Congress to make effective the treaties that had been negotiated with those countries.

The House committee on railways and canals to-day ordered a favorable report on the bill providing for the construction by the United States of a ship canal around Niagara Falls.

The White House and Arsenal grounds to-day were crowded with children of all ages, sexes, colors and conditions, with and without nurses, but nearly all with eggs, which they picked and rolled to their hearts' discontent. The crowd in the White House grounds was immense, variously estimated at from five to twenty-five thousand. The Marine Band played for them this afternoon.

The House committee on coinage, weights and measures to-day authorized a favorable report on a bill for the coinage of shrapnel and worn and mutilated U. S. silver subsidiary coins, at the expense of the government, and to make them legal tender in sums of twenty dollars.

The U. S. Supreme Court to-day decided that a State has the right to tax the money of corporations incorporated in U. S. bonds.

"GET BACK IN DE RIBER."—The prevailing floods recalls to mind a humorous incident of the great flood of 1892, which is good enough to repeat, says the Nashville American. A certain boat coming up the Mississippi lost her way and bumped up against a frame house. She hadn't more than touched it before an old dorky rammed his head up through a hole in the roof where the chimney once came out and yelled at the Captain on the boat: "Wah de hell is yer gwine wid dat boat? Can't you see nuffin? Fast thing yer knows yer gwine to trim dis house ober, spill de old woman an' de children out in de flood an' drown 'em. Wah yer dink de water in de country yerdum bad, anyhow? Go on back yonder frow de co'n field and get back into de ribber wah yer b'longs. Ain't got no business se'n miles out in de country foolin' roun' people's houses now!" And she backed out.

Many lives, histories or biographies of the late Jefferson Davis, purporting to be written by Mrs. Jefferson Davis, are being advertised throughout the country. The only genuine work of the kind written by Mrs. Jefferson Davis is that to be published by the Belford Company, 18-22 East 18th street, New York, entitled "Jefferson Davis, Ex-President of the Confederate States: A Memoir, by His Wife." All other works claiming the authorship of Mrs. Jefferson Davis must necessarily be injurious to her personally and pecuniarily. The book is sold by subscription, and territory is being rapidly assigned. The work promises to be one of the most popular ever published, and those desiring to canvass for it should apply at once to the publishers, who will furnish circulars and information.

The Commonwealth for March has been received from its publishers, in Denver, Colorado. This magazine is now rivaling some of the older eastern literary monthlies. The contents of the number referred to are: Is it "Neither Traitor Nor Rebel?" Denver, Fatherhood of the State, Inspiration, Money Free to Farmers, Mrs. Parkman's Easter Bonnet, The Trans-Mississippi Centennial, Moral Evolution, Fides, Jean Valjean, L. Landscap, Gardening, I. Venetian Revenge, Henry George's Single Tax Doctrine, Madam, The Colorado Climate, Glimpses of Japan, The Court in Contempt, Editorial Department, Pay Rock, Chat and Comment, Woman's Repository, Marguerite, Paint and Clay Club.

The unveiling of the monument erected by Queen Victoria in memory of the late Duke of Albany was performed at Cannes yesterday morning by the Prince of Wales in the Albany memorial chapel of St. George's. After the service the Prince of Wales, Prince Nicholas and Chevalier Colquhoun stepped from the royal pew, and entering the memorial chapel uncovered the statue. It is a full length figure in Highland costume.

The House of Representatives has passed several bills tending to promote the efficiency of the army, among them a bill increasing the number of artillery regiments from 5 to 7.

The three valuable paintings in the Maria Della Pace Church in Rome were burned Saturday by the upsetting of a lamp. Raphael's fresco, The Sibyls, narrowly escaped destruction.

Seventy negroes from Halifax county, N. C., arrived at Pittsburg, Pa., last week to work in the coal mines. The miners say there will be trouble if the new men work for less than the scale rate.

Showers of unprecedented violence fell in the neighborhood of Ithaca Friday night and caused the bursting of a dam containing 20,000,000 gallons of water. Several bridges were swept away, but no lives were lost.

Owing to the premature explosion of a fog signal the dome of the famous Belfry Lighthouse, off the east coast of Scotland, was shattered Saturday night and the light was extinguished for the first time in 79 years.

A fire on Saturday night in the four-story building, in Philadelphia, occupied by F. Middleton & Co., dealers in teas, coffees and spices, caused a loss of over $40,000. Four firemen were overcome with the fumes of burning pepper, and had to be taken from the building.

While Mark Steele, aged about 19, and Sammie, a 7-year-old son of R. A. Dornon, of New Alexandria, Pa., were hauling rubbish on Saturday, their horse backed the wagon in which they were seated over a precipice 50 feet high, and they were hurled to the bottom. Young Dornon was killed and Steele internally injured.

The Archer investigation committee in Maryland, has traced securities valued at $35,500, upon which loans were secured for $32,875.00. It is now agreed that Treasurer Archer's defalcation will run up to $200,000. Gov. Jackson says he has not offered the State treasuryship to Hon. Barnes Compton and Mr. Compton says he doesn't want the place.

Conductor Gardner J. Tuckey, in charge of an east-bound freight train on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad, was attacked yesterday afternoon by six tramps, who attempted to enter the caboose when the train was sidetracked at Lima, Ohio. After a desperate struggle one of the tramps shot the conductor, inflicting a mortal wound.

Miss Mattie Wiman, daughter of Erasmus Wiman, had a narrow escape from being burned to death at her home at Tantalio, St. George, S. I., on Thursday evening. While striking a match, the lace on the drapery of her dress caught fire from a flying spark, and before the flames were extinguished, Miss Wiman's throat and wrist were seriously burned.

Some colored Knights Templar whilst parading in Pittsburg Saturday night jostled a white woman, and a white man expostulated with the marchers. Several colored men took up the quarrel, and one of them, named Lightner, fired three times into the crowd with a pistol, killing John O'Hara and seriously wounding Martin Fahy, each about seventeen years old, and both innocent bystanders.

Nineteen colored persons, the survivors of a large party of refugees, who attempted to escape from the overflow down Bayou Falcay on a raft, have arrived at Vicksburg. They report that twelve women and children were drowned when the current lashed their crazy vessel against a tree, and that they escaped with extreme difficulty. By the breaking of the levee at Catfish Point, on the Mississippi, near Greenville, Miss., on Saturday that town was inundated. It is again reported that the levees have been cut by negroes along the river.

The supplementary election in Newport, R. I., on Saturday for the First and Fourth representatives, resulted in the election of two democrats. This brings the Legislature to stand forty-seven republicans and forty-four democrats. There are seventeen members yet to be elected and the democrats must secure 12 to win. Their chances for successfully reaching this end are considered very hopeful. The present General Assembly shows that thirteen of the seats to be filled are now held by democrats.

The dynamite works of Arthur C. Dittmar, located at Baychester, N. Y., were blown into fragments Saturday afternoon. Two laborers, who were in the works at the time, were literally reduced to atoms, some few small bits of flesh and shreds of clothing found scattered around within a hundred yards of the scene being all that remained to identify the unfortunate victims. For miles in every direction the ground trembled as with an earthquake, the plastering fell from ceilings and window panes were shattered. The depot at Baychester, a quarter of a mile away, was badly damaged. The windows were all demolished, and the glass in front of the postoffice boxes in the ticket office was smashed and scattered in all directions.

Confederate decoration day attracted thousands of visitors to the New Orleans cemetery yesterday. The Ladies' Confederate Monumental Association, the Confederate veteran organizations, Sons of Veterans and the citizens' soldiery, in uniform, participated. The Grand Army of the Republic did not take part in a body, as no invitation was issued, owing to division existing in that organization, and Union veterans participated individually and sent offerings. The Lee, Confederate, Army of Tennessee and Army of Northern Virginia monuments were beautifully decorated. At the tomb of Jefferson Davis the Confederate veterans placed a magnificent presidential chair of yellow immortelles inscribed "To Our Chief" in front of the resting place of the distinguished dead.

Why are there so many noisy and lawless youths in this city? Two reasons; namely, loose family government, and parents who, in many cases, defy police interference, as they call it. All this bodes no good. Z.

Proceedings of Congress.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 7.

SENATE.

The House amendment to the joint resolution for the removal of the naval magazine from Ellis Island, N. Y., was concurred in. Mr. Evans presented resolutions of the New York Chamber of Commerce protesting against the pending bill for a census enumeration of the Chinese as absurd, barbarous, unchristian and cowardly; and a memorial on the same subject from the American Missionary Association was presented by Mr. Dawes.

Mr. Platt presented a memorial for the admission of New Mexico as a State, but without committing himself (he said) to the views set forth in it.

The Montana election case was then taken up, and Mr. Vance (a member of the Committee on Privileges and Elections) made an argument in support of the minority report declaring Clark and Maginniss (the democratic claimants) entitled to the seats.

In the course of his speech he told a story of a person who was once schooling a country bumpkin to fit him to be a god father at a christening. The parson asked him what was the outward and visible sign of baptism. The bumpkin, after scratching his head for a while, answered with an air of triumph, "Why, the baby, to be sure." And so (said Mr. Vance) the outward and visible sign of the backsliding of the republican party will be the Montana twins—not a baby, but a couple of them. (Laughter.)

HOUSE.

Mr. Morrill, of Kansas, moved to suspend the rules and pass (with a substitute) Senate bill granting pensions to soldiers and sailors who are incapacitated from the performance of labor and providing for pensions to widows, minor children and dependent parents.

Mr. Springer, of Illinois, demanded a second, and the motion was carried.

Mr. Morrill briefly explained that the substitute provided a service pension of $8 a month to soldiers who have reached the age of 62 years or who are dependent. He thought that the same principle which had been applied to the veterans of the war of 1812 and the war with Mexico should be applied to the veterans of the war of 1861.

In answer to a question from Mr. Sayers, of Texas, he stated, that it was estimated that the Senate bill would require an annual expenditure of $36,000,000 and the House substitute would require $39,000,000 annually.

Mr. Boethman, of Ohio, did not arise to oppose the bill, but he protested against bringing a bill of this proportion and forcing its passage through the House without any member having the right to offer amendments.

Mr. Springer, of Illinois, said that he would vote against the motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill for the reason that no proper consideration could be given to the measure in the limited time allowed for debate. There was no opportunity to offer amendments.

Mr. Yoder, closed the debate in opposition to the motion to suspend the rules, and in conclusion asked unanimous consent to substitute for the pending bill the bill—

But amid much laughter the Speaker brought down his gavel and declared that the gentleman's time had expired.

Motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill was lost.

Fatal Affray.

HERNDON, Ky., April 7.—James Wells, a 16-year old boy, and Eugene Cornell, two years his senior, have been paying attention to the same young lady. PORTLAND, Oregon, April 7.—A detective last night arrested Sinnott, private secretary to the president of the First National Bank, of Portland, for robbery. It was incorrectly stated that the man arrested was Si cotti, the absconding cashier of the Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Representatives.

One of the negroes shot and fatally wounded City Marshal England, and the Deputy Sheriff killed the three negroes, whose names cannot be obtained to night. While not directly connected with the political trouble existing here the citizens claim that the negroes have been incited by the republicans.

The Front Royal Sentinel says: "It is suggested that states be hung in the vestibules of our churches to enable the young ladies to register their names on entering for the night services. Judge Crisp, of Georgia, on Saturday completed the minority report in the Waddell-Wise contest, and late in the evening it was submitted to the House. It is an interesting document, and Mr. Crisp was assisted in its preparation by Colonel O'Ferrall. On Saturday, March 29th, Mr. Geo. W. Ray, a well known citizen, near Rawley Springs, was viewing the mountain for timber for posts. His dog was playing near by, when all at once a large black bear came bounding at the dog which became very much frightened and ran towards his master. When the bear came within reach of Mr. Ray he struck him with an ax, killing him instantly.

The overseer of the Roanoke street force, while blasting rock on Eighth street, near the new Allegheny Institute Saturday morning, came across a cave forty five feet deep. Several parties were attracted to the place, and examined the opening in the ground as well as the debris of the blast would admit, and it seems to be the general opinion, if the proper explorations are made, quite a cavern will be discovered there.

He says the South Carolina troops will go into camp at Richmond if he can secure tents for them.

A RAILROAD TICKET CASE.—The case of George D. Sidman, of Washington, against the Richmond and Danville Railroad was decided on Saturday by the interstate commerce commission in favor of the railroad company. Complainant's quarterly commutation ticket was purchased June 13, 1889. It specified on its face that 150 trips might be taken, but that it should expire August 31, and complainant knew this when the purchase was made. It is held that complainant was not entitled to recover any portion of the purchase price for the thirteen days less than the full quarter.

MONETARY AND COMMERCIAL.

NEW YORK, April 7.—First prices in most of the list this morning were from 1/8 to 1/2 per cent lower than Saturday's closing figures. In the first half hour there was a moderate business, and further progress was made in the downward direction. Later, however, a better tone prevailed, and the early losses were in many cases recovered. The market soon became again extremely dull, and remained without further feature, and at 11 o'clock it was dull and steady to firm, generally at slight fractions under the opening prices.
